

LM Flooring

LM Floors passion for quality and design is reflected in their more than 150 styles of wood flooring, all carefully crafted by veteran artisans. With advanced technologies, they achieve the highest precision in wood milling and fine Italian finishing. Their wood flooring styles, made from both domestic and exotic species, range from traditional strip to wide plank, many with hand-crafted scraping and distressed designs. LM Floors collections also include hand-inlaid borders, decorative patterns, and their newest commercial-grade acrylic infused hardwood floors.

The Engineered Advantage - Compared to solid wood floors, engineered hardwood floors yield up to three times more square feet of floor covering per tree harvested. LM floors are guaranteed to last a lifetime, which means that several generations of old-growth forests will mature (from seed to harvest) in the time that it takes to replace one of their floors. The Sustainable Design ‐ The Forest footprint is up to 10 times less than other engineered wood flooring manufacturers. This is because most of their products are constructed of 85-95% recycled hardwood or rapidly renewable hardwood, which translates into far less old-growth trees harvested per square foot of flooring that we produce.
